PERSONAL PROJECTS

CP++
CP++ is a learning-based website where people can learn competitive programming from scratch to advance. We have divided the learning process into three stages such as beginner, intermediate and advanced.There are also some other sections like Challenge section where we will give challenge to the user such as learn 15 algorithms in 30 days and solve problem using those algorithms.There is also a Quiz section where users can take a test after learning a particular topic. We also arrange contests for the beginner programmers. From the Contest section users can find the schedule of the contest.

Wedding Planner
It's a website that helps bride and groom to organize their wedding and book venues using HTML,CSS and JavaScript. I also added a simple database to store booking information.

Note-Boi
NoteBoi is a note sharing platform for the student of UITS. Where student of UITS can share their notes among each other. They can also have previous year questions on the basis of particular semester.
